WEATHER KEY POINTS

10/08/21 - 10/14/21

Friday-Thursday

- Gusty winds of 30 to 45 mph are possible again today across the southern mountains and deserts. However, with high humidity levels, no significant fire weather concerns are expected.
- Periods of mainly light rain showers will continue across the state today, with the most widespread activity expected over the Sierra and coastal southern California mountains
  - Some snow accumulation and travel impacts are possible over the higher elevations today, mainly above 7,000 feet
  - Rainfall amounts will average less than one-quarter inch, but locally higher amounts in excess of one-half inch are possible over the Sierra
- Gusty northerly winds are expected to develop across the state Monday, then turn more offshore for Tuesday, potentially leading to critical fire weather concerns
  - Gusty offshore winds could linger across southern California on Wednesday
